Cancellation Procedure

Your booking is a legally binding contract, and like all contracts you should protect yourself in case things go wrong. That's why we ask for all our bookings to be protected by a holiday cancellation and curtailment scheme. Once you have entered into a booking agreement the balance of the holiday must been paid eight weeks before the start of the holiday. In the unfortunate event you have to cancel your holiday the balance will be due unless we re-let the accommodation on your behalf.

We strongly recommend you take out the Cancellation Protection Scheme to cover the cost of your holiday.
If you have alternative cover this will be acceptable.
